08:00 AM

Pick up from the hotel.

Leave the bustling streets of Mae Hong Son behind and embark on a captivating journey to Khun Yuam District, a region rich in cultural heritage and natural beauty. Your adventure begins with a stop at a vibrant hill tribe market, a bustling hub of activity, color, and charm. Here, you will encounter friendly locals from various tribes, each eager to share a piece of their culture with you. As you wander through the market, you'll find an array of fresh produce, handcrafted treasures, and traditional wares. The market offers a unique opportunity to witness the everyday lives of the hill tribes, and perhaps even engage in some delightful conversations. You might find yourself drawn to the exquisite textiles, intricate jewelry, or beautifully carved wooden items, each telling a story of the artisan who created them. Take a moment to appreciate the welcoming atmosphere, enhanced by the vibrant flower beds thoughtfully planted by the hill tribes themselves. These bursts of color add a picturesque element to the market, making it a perfect spot for photography enthusiasts. Snap photos of the lively scenes and the stunning floral displays, capturing the essence of this enchanting place.

Next, prepare to be mesmerized by the Bua Tong fields, a natural masterpiece and one of Mae Hong Son's most celebrated attractions. Imagine rolling mountains transformed into a vast canvas of golden hues. The Bua Tong, a type of sunflower, paints the landscape in stunning shades of yellow, stretching across valleys and mountain peaks like a breathtaking tapestry. Covering over 500 rai (200 acres), this vast expanse reaches an impressive 1,600 meters above sea level, making it Thailand's largest natural Bua Tong field. Winter, especially from November to December, unveils a magical transformation. The cool air awakens the Bua Tong, coaxing them into a mesmerizing bloom. Witness a chorus of bright yellow flowers swaying gently in the breeze, creating a sight that resembles a golden carpet adorning the land. This breathtaking spectacle is sure to leave you breathless and capture your heart with its unique beauty.

Lunch at the restaurant.

Leaving the golden tapestry of Bua Tong behind, your journey continues to Mae Surin National Park, where another natural wonder awaits: the mighty Mae Surin Waterfall. Prepare to be humbled by the raw power of this single-tiered giant, proudly holding the title of Thailand's highest. Imagine the majestic Mae Surin

River, born in the park's heart, snaking its way through verdant gorges and lush forests. Finally, reaching the edge of a 150-meter cliff, it gathers its strength and plunges downwards, unleashing a mesmerizing curtain of water that adorns the landscape. Beyond the sheer scale, the beauty lies in the details. Lush greenery envelops the waterfall, creating a symphony of emerald hues contrasting with the cascading white. Breathe in the cool, refreshing air as you soak in the serenity of this hidden gem.

After basking in the grandeur of Mae Surin Waterfall and the unforgettable sight of the Bua Tong fields, your journey gently winds back to Mae Hong Son, leaving you with a treasure trove of memories to cherish forever.
